BLACKMAIL IN EVERY STATE, SAYS M'CALL

President of New York Life Says Three-Quarters of Bills Introduced Are Graft Measures to Extort Money from Insurance Companies.

STATE LEGISLATURES OUT FOR BLACKMAIL, SAYS M'CALL.

"I believe that three-fourths of the insurance bills proposed every year at State Legislatures are blackmailing measures.

"We fairly tremble when the beginning of each year comes around at the thought of what hangs over our heads. I KNOW I DO. "FOR THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF EVERY YEAR WE GO THROUGH THIS BLACKMAILING PERIOD AND THE FIGHTING

"Some honorable men propose bills with an idea of correcting what appears to them as life insurance evils. But, as I said three-quarters of all bills have nothing but blackmailing purposes behind them."

"Oh," answered McCall, with a laugh, "teat isn"t final by any means. We don't intend to give up as easily as all that.

"sub-standard risk is one in which the applicant has only one lung or has some other chrome allment, but is accepted at an increased rate.

He also admitted that the New York Life practiced "loading," which is an expenditure for getting new business. The first year's premium, he said, frequently did not cover the coat. It is a premium on a premium, and he declared that all companies paid it, Nevada's Action Not Final.

"What do you think of the New York Life being shut out of the State of Nevada until you and George W. Perkins have resigned from the company?" he was asked by a reporter of the Evening World just before he was coulded.

"Sub-standard risks come to us in the ordinary course of business. When an applicant for insurance is found upon medical examination not to be what one would call a standard basis, but that we can take him as a sub-standard risks. The rates for such insurance are higher, and the whole system is predicated on our experience.
